

Using the sheets to RESEARCH SMARTER

These research smarter sheets have been designed to guide you through the research process from initial ideas to finished piece of work. They can be used to support purely academic research or to support more creative and innovative projects.

The sheets can be used as a series or as individual guides to support specific parts of the research cycle.

There is a suggested sequence to help you with the process if you are new or unfamiliar with the different stages outlined by each sheet.

As research is often an exploratory process, you may find that you need to revisit some stages as you discover new ideas or concepts or if you need to refocus your project in response to research findings.
